WITH THE ARMED FORCES

S. 1/c MARION QUARTAROLI will leave next Monday after a 30-day leave spent at the home of his mother, Mrs. Niccola Quartaroli of Niles. This was his first leave in 13 months overseas.

While in the South Pacific, he was in three battles, Saipan, Tinian, and the battle of Palu. During the battle of Saipan his ship was unsuccessfully attacked.

Although the L.S.T. on which he sailed has never been hit, it was beached for 26 days on the rocks off Palu. The crew worked in 24-hour shifts and finally rigged a 75-by-20-foot pontoon to the side of the vessel. A tugboat was then able to drag the L.S.T. from the rocks.

Quartaroli's battle duties were varied. He manned guns, helped refuel amphibious tanks, and took care of wounded Marines.

Pfc. EDWARD "BUD" MILLER writes to his wife, the former Myrtle Corey, that he is at present seeing the sights of France, at Chartres. He's been in the European area for 18 months.

—V—

S. 1/c and Mrs. KENNETH JONES returned last Friday from a week's vacation in Santa Cruz to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Antone Costa of Niles.

The couple saw each other for the first time in 21 months when Seaman Jones walked into the Costa home unannounced two weeks ago. The reunion was completed when Jones was introduced to his son, Kenneth Jr., whom he had never seen.

Speaking of his experiences over seas, he said the most interesting duty he had was the operation of a small boat which carried passengers and fuel to the seaplanes that landed a short distance from the island on which he was stationed.

After a thirty-day leave, he and his family will live near the Alameda Air Station, Alameda, where he hopes to be permanently stationed.

—V—

Pfc. PAT LUNA has written his wife, Mrs. Violet Luna of Decoto, that he is stationed somewhere in the South Pacific. He had been home several months ago on a two weeks' furlough.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil P. Young of Niles received a letter last week from their son, Second Lt. VIRGIL P. YOUNG Jr., from overseas, who left three weeks ago for flying duties. He sent the letter during a delay enroute. He mentioned that he had been surf boat riding, thus subtly indicating his whereabouts.

WAYNE RUSSELL SUFFERS SERIOUS BURNS AT STEEL MILL

Wayne Russell of the Russell and Davis machine shop in Niles, was seriously burned Thursday, June 14, while working on a job at the Pacific States Steel Company.

He was welding brackets for a platform while standing on a 30-foot ladder when a spark ignited his shirt. Before he could climb down the ladder the entire back of his shirt was in flames and his back severely burned.

He was taken to the Alameda hospital, where he was treated for first, second, and third-degree burns. He will remain in the hospital for about two weeks before returning to his home in Niles.

SCHUCKL CANNERY ORGANIZES OWN FIRE AUXILIARY

Plans to organize an auxiliary fire department for the Schuckl cannery were revealed by the plant superintendent, Wallace Koshenko, this week. A meeting was to be held this week with Melvin Teeters of Niles appointed as temporary fire chief.

Of the proposed plans, Koshenko said: "The auxiliary fire department will be to our benefit as well as to the local fire department, and we plan to co-operate with them a hundred per cent."

The fire patrol will consist of 12 or more workers who will have weekly drills and will fight mock fires.

Other plans to insure against disastrous fire will be discussed at the meeting. However, four hydrants, one at each corner of the building will be installed before the plant opens.

The only hydrant now available for the fire department is a 3-inch line and will not carry the desired pressure.

Koshenko also stated that in case of a fire the Niles department would be in charge and his fire-fighting unit would take orders from them.

Koshenko has worked at the Schuckl canneries in San Jose and Sunnyvale as assistant supervisor but will be the head supervisor in the Niles cannery.

LELAND GOULARTE WOUNDED AT LUZON

Word was received by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Goularte of Newark that their son, Pfc. Leland Goularte, has been wounded while fighting on Luzon.

The letter, written by his chaplain, explained that Goularte was wounded in the right hand and suffered lacerations on his left, thus preventing him from writing. He was wounded while helping to man an anti-tank gun.

Two weeks previously he had been struck by a Japanese sniper's bullet which grazed him above the right temple.

The chaplain stated that Goularte would be honorably discharged after being released from the hospital.

After joining the Army Goularte spent three months at basic training in California and Texas before going overseas. In the seven months he has been in the South Pacific he has engaged in several major battles.

Before induction he had worked at the Moore Drydock Company in Oakland. Two brothers are now serving in the Navy.

ZONING URGED FOR NEWARK

A move to organize a new chamber of commerce was launched in Newark this week at a meeting of the Boosters' Club, which has been inactive for the past three years. Joe Pashote is acting chairman and S. G. Scott is secretary.

Two petitions have been presented by the club to the Washington Township Planning Committee. One protests the proposed location of a butane plant in one of the residential districts. The other asks that the Newark area be zoned.

LARGE LAND HOLDINGS PASS TO NEW OWNERS

The Frank Leal estate recently disposed of two large holdings. Major Marchisio of Centerville purchased the Leal Block in Irvington along with the large dwelling in the rear.

There will be no changes in the present occupancy which consists of the Irvington Theatre and Bakery downstairs, and the apartments upstairs.

Dr. E. M. Grimmer of Niles purchased the Leal Ranch on Driscoll Road consisting of 45 acres and two dwellings. The same is now under lease to Lloyd Bailey who will endeavor to put it in its former productive state. The first asparagus from Alameda County was raised on this tract around 40 years ago by M. V. Perry, since deceased, and for years supplied sufficient asparagus to the Oakland market. This ranch is noted for its soil texture, from sandy loam to the mission adobe and the diversity of crops that can be raised.

CIVIL WAR RIFLE COMES TO LIFE, INJURES MAN

An old muzzle loading rifle, a relic of the Civil War days belonging to Charles Riley of Niles, was responsible for a near tragedy this week when it exploded in the face of Melvin Cunha of Irvington, who was using it for target practice.

Cunha was dazed and temporarily blinded by the sudden explosion. He was driven to Dr. Lyle Buehler's office, where he was given first aid treatment by Mrs. Edgar Dawson, and from there rushed to the Alameda hospital and treated for head injuries. He was confined to the hospital for several days.

The rifle, which measures almost a yard in length—the muzzle alone being 2 feet long—was loaded by ramming the powder and ball into the muzzle. It had been used successfully many times before by both Cunha and his brother-in-law, John McGowan.

They are at loss to explain the reason for the sudden explosion. Parts of the rifle were found scattered about the back yard of the McGowan home, where the two had taken turns shooting at a target. A hole the size of a baseball was found in the screen door two days after the accident and was believed to have been caused by part of the stock.

Cunha is now at home. He and his wife, the former Leona Jergentz, live with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cunha of Irvington. He is an employee of the Graham Manufacturing Company.

CHESTER ROSE GETS OVERAGE DISCHARGE

B. 1/c Chester Rose of Niles received an honorable overage discharge from the Navy last Monday after three years and five months in the service. He is 43.

Rose joined the Navy in January, 1942, in San Francisco and was sent to the San Diego repair base where he worked several months repairing World War I destroyers. He suffered a leg injury while on duty and spent several months in three different hospitals.

He was then transferred from San Diego to a repair ship that operated in the Atlantic and Pacific.

Two weeks before he was granted a discharge he had been serving in Okinawa. He was flown from there to Saipan and then to San Francisco.

He will live with his father, James Rose of Niles, and will work on the ranch of his brother, Norman Rose.

He has a son, Medical Corpsman Roy Rose, who is serving in the South Pacific.

$5000 MORE FOR TOWNSHIP BUSINESS BOND QUOTA

H. O. McCormick, manager of the Niles office of the Tidewater Associated Oil Company, this week notified the local bond drive committee that his office has been allotted $5000 in war bonds, thus adding substantially to the business and industry quota of bond purchases.

PLANNING BODY TO MEET MONDAY

President Jack Rees of the Washington Township Planning Committee announced this week that a meeting of the group will be held in the cafeteria at Washington Union High School on Monday evening, June 25, at 8 o'clock.

Rees states that a number of important matters are to be considered and asks that all those who have attended meetings in the past, and other persons interested, attend Monday's meeting.

The planning committee's efforts to date have resulted in securing of improved street lighting in the township, with lights now being installed; in the undertaking by the board of supervisors of a county zoning program; and in publication by the Metropolitan Oakland Area Committee of an advertising folder about the township.

$1500 RAISED FOR MONUMENT AT DECOTO

More than $1500 has already been raised for the proposed monument to be dedicated to Decoto's service men.

This announcement was made by Raymond Pagan at a meeting held last Sunday at the Decoto Grammar School, to discuss the possibilities of a memorial park. More than 60 persons attended.

The money has come from Decoto and Niles people. Pagan hopes that the remainder of the $3000 necessary will be forthcoming from dances and entertainments.

In his appeal to the people of Decoto, he stated that property near the main highway would be purchased and converted into a park on which the structure would be built.

The monument will be 45 feet high, including a 24-foot flagpole. It will be built in four steps with a bronze plate on the top step bearing the names of all Decoto men serving in the war. A small gold star will designate the names of those who have been casualties of the war.

Plans for another meeting are scheduled for next week.

MANUEL FERRY SUCCUMBS AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Manuel Dutra Ferry, 66, who died at the Hayward hospital after a long illness, was given final rites Tuesday from the Berge Mortuary parlors at Niles. Mass was said at the Corpus Christi Church and interment was at the Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

A native of Mission San Jose, he had spent his entire life in Washington Township. He is survived by his widow, Jennie D. Ferry, former Niles telephone operator; a brother, Joe Ferry, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Miller, both of Niles; a daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Evans of Hayward, and two grandchildren. He was a member of the I.D.E.S. Lodge No. 27, Centerville.

EAGLES DANCE AIDS BOND SALES

The bond dance sponsored by the Alvarado lodge of Eagles is going to be a big affair, according to President Jack Holland of Centerville. Dick Gordon's orchestra from the Hotel Leamington in Oakland will furnish music for the dance, which will be held in Swiss Park, Centerville, July 3.

Admission tickets are being given to purchasers of $25 "E" bonds, which may be bought from local banks or bond committeemen.

NILES HOTEL-BAR AUCTIONED AT $12,000

The reopening of the Wesley Hotel and bar on July 1 was announced this week by its new owner, A. R. Gouveia of Oakland.

The business was offered for sale in an auction on July 11 on the hotel premises and sold for $12,000. The hotel building and site, however, are still owned by A. Pratali and Mario Moise of Niles.

Gouveia, who owns the 78th Club in Oakland, will operate both businesses from his office in Oakland.

ROTARIANS HEAR TALK ON POST WAR MERCHANDISING

If the American system of free enterprise in business is to endure, business men must assume a true position of leadership. Thus stated Frank Cox of the state department of education in an address before the Niles Rotary Club yesterday at the Florence Restaurant.

"It is important," Cox said, "that we have a good definition of leadership. A real leader has the ability to secure the confidence of people, to impose his will upon them, and to secure their willing co-operation."

During this war, he said, American business has produced more war materials than all of her allies and enemies combined. We have demonstrated our ability to produce. We have had full employment.

If we are to continue to produce peace-time merchandise at full capacity and maintain full employment, the retailers of the nation must modernize their methods of sales and distribution. Production to maintain full employment will be about a third greater than pre-war production. And so sales must be increased by one-third in order to distribute this merchandise.

Cox told Rotarians about the series of lectures on merchandising which the state department is offering to business men. This program is presently being arranged for local presentation by the Niles Chamber of Commerce in co-operation with Warren Gravestock, who heads the adult education program at Washington High School.

Cox also praised the Niles Chamber of Commerce for its proposed Main Street modernization plan. Attending the Rotary meeting with him was Otis Winfield of the aKwneer Company, which has pioneered store-front modernization troughout the United States.

DUARTE TWINS AHEAD IN BABY BOND CONTEST

The lead in the Baby Bond Contest being sponsored by the women's committee in Washington Township changed three times this week, the final count placing Frank and John, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Duarte of Niles, in the lead.

Arthur Steele of Mission San Jose was at the top last week. Then Nancy Thornburg was aead, and then Connie Cipriano, both of Centerville. The final count on Thursday, however, gave the twins a total of 12,705 votes.

The next high ten are Nancy Thornburg, 8525; Connie Cipriano, 7425; Arthur Steele, 5550; Roman Cipriano of Centerville, 5000; Bruce Belshaw of Centerville, 4325; Cheryl Ann Cissell of Newark, 4225; John Paul Short of Centerville, 4200; Tommy Logan of Niles, 3075; Richard Robbins of Niles, 1800; and July Serpa of Alvarado, 1250.

Twenty-eight other babies are in the contest. Every "E" bond bought in Washington Township not later than July 9 will count for votes, which may be recorded with town chairmen. The winner will receive a $25 bond.

$3,000 DAMAGE AT NILES CANNERY

Niles had another costly fire Tuesday when estimated damage of $3000 was caused at the Schuckl Cannery. The fire started when sparks from a burning rubbish pile were blown onto a canvas tarpaulin covering a large pile of box shook.

The Niles Fire Department, several Schuckl workers and a number of volunteers worked for more than four hours to extinguish the blaze.

"E" BOND SALES REACH 48 PER CENT OF QUOTA

Sale of "E" bonds to date, with returns incomplete, will run around $200,000, according to Chairman Loren Marriott of the township war finance committee. This represents about 48 per cent of the township quota.

"'E' bond sales are lagging just a little," Marriott states. "A number of surrounding communities report sales at 50 to 60 per cent of their quotas."

In order to attain the quota, $214,000 in "E" bonds must be purchased by local people during the next week.

Purchases of bonds by business and industrial firms has surpassed the township quota for these types of bonds, Marriott states. To date $220,000 in bonds have been purchased by township establishments.

THE EARWIGS WILL GET YOU, IF YOU DON'T WATCH OUT !

Victory gardeners who have been puzzled by a mysterious bug who devours their victory garden during the night, may be interested to know what Fred Duffie, Senior Agricultural Inspector of Southern Alameda County, has to say about the subject.

"It's probably ear-wigs," says Duffie, who goes on to describe the creature as a nocturnal insect, looking something like a large ant, only it has two big pincers on its back. "You don't often get a chance to see them," says Duffie, "as they come out only at night, and hide by day. Ear-wig bait, or apple bait may be used to advantage. Or they may be trapped in pieces of garden hose laid about the garden or they have been known to crawl into wet burlap sacks or wet clumps of newspapers, which should be burned in the morning."

MOTHER OF EIGHT DIES IN DECOTO

She is survived by her husband, Julio, and eight children.

A mass was said at Corpus Christi Church in Niles, with interment at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Hayward.

WAGES RATES FIXED FOR APRICOT CROP

BERKELEY, June 21.— Recent amendments of the War Food Administration's specific wage ceiling order for picking and cutting apricots make 85 cents the maximum hourly rate throughout the major producing areas of California this season and also re-defines areas in regard to piece rate maximums, growers and workers were reminded today by John E. Cooter, exercutive officer of the California Wage Board.

The practical effect of the amendments, Cooter explained, is to replace the differentials on hourly rates provided last year for three areas with the uniform hourly 85-cent rate, and to define two piece rate area differentials instead of the three in effect last year.

Maximum piece rates permitted under the revised order are $12 a ton for picking and $15 a ton for cutting apricots in all San Joaquin Valley counties from and including Kern County north to the Stanislaus County line, and $13 a ton for picking and $16 a ton for cutting apricots in Stanislaus, San Benito, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz and all other apricot producing districts north of these counties.

Local advisory committees of growers and workers are now being selected in the principal apricot producing districts, he added, to assist the Wage Board staff in administering the wage ceiling program during the present season, especially in recommending individual adjustments in cases where exceptionally difficult conditions in any orchard would cause undue hardship to the employer and workers involved in the particular operation unless relief were granted.

FINAL RITES FOR FORMER CENTERVILLE MAN

Funeral services were held at the Chapel of the Palms last Tuesday for Manuel Nunes, a one-time resident of Centerville, who died in Salinas on June 16.

He is survived by two sons, Lester and Fred Nunes of Salinas; a brother, Joseph; and a sister, Mrs. Mary Foster of Salinas. A native of California, he was a member of the U.P.E.C. of Centerville.

A 9 o'clock mass was conducted at the Holy Ghost Church in Centerville, with interment at the Holy Ghost Cemetery.

FARM NEWS
AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE

SHOULD PREPARE TO FIGHT TOMATO PESTS

Tomato growers should prepare for dusting sulphur for insect mites, according to a warning from P. A. Minges, specialist in truck crops, Agricultural Extension Service, University of California. He says tomato russet mites are beginning to show in some areas. Dusting with sulphur should be undertaken immediately in some sections and in about two weeks hence in others. Minges urged growers to contact the Agricultural Extension Service in their own counties about local conditions and time to dust rather than waiting until the plants are infested.

In the case of market tomatoes, a combination dust containing cryolite should be used to control mites and pinworms with one application.

Trouble from aphids and thrips has not been serious in tomatoes this year, but Minges suggested growers having any appreciable infestation of aphis control them with nicotine dust to prevent the spreading of virus diseases by the aphids.

Growers have been reporting trouble with curly top in some areas. Curly top will not spread from infested plants to healthy plants but the yield will be reduced on the plants that have been stunted by attacks of the curly top virus. This disease, sometimes called western yellow blight, is transmitted by the beet leaf hopper.

Spotted wilt, a virus disease transmitted by thrips, has caused tremendous damage in some coastal districts in past seasons. It is still early for the attacks of this disease. Growers should be watchful of workers using tobacco about tomato plants because of the introduction of tobacco mosaic in the field. There are no control methods for curly top, tobacco mosais, or spotted wilt.

The Agricultural Extension Service will supply further information on the control of tomato insects and diseases.

CARE REQUIRED IN IRRIGATING ORCHARD

Plenty of water but not too much might serve as the first and last rule of the orchard irrigator. This rule is submitted by J. B. Brown, specialist in irrigation of the Agricultural Extension Service, University of California.

The growers must determine the right time to irrigate, how much water required, and the method of applying the water.

An orchard will grow and produce just as well when moisture falls low in the soil provided it does not reach permanent wilting point, the point when the trees will wither and not recover. Irrigation must begin far enough ahead of the permanent wilting percentage to prevent the trees from reaching that point. After that point the trees will be permanently damaged. Irrigating too far ahead of the permanent wilting point is waste of water and labor. Growers learn from experience to judge the permanent wilting point, but the Agricultural Extension Service is in a position to advise on this condition.

Growers should use the soil probe to determine if enough water has been applied. A little experience with the probe will enable the grower to determine the depth of the penetration. Most orchards should be wet to a depth of six feet.

There are three common methods of irrigating orchards, i. e. the square check, the contour check, or the furrow method. Each has its advantages and disadvantages under various conditions. The grower should determine which method is best adapted to his orchard.

Essentials of Irrigation and Cultivation or Orchards, a circular of the Agricultural Extension Service, is available to growers at no cost.

FURTHER SCARCITY NEXT WINTER

Better stop, look and listen on this one

We thought point values on canned fruits and vegetables were high last winter. According to Farm Advisor T. O. Morrison, War Food Administration forecasts fewer cans of fruit and vegetables next winter. Take tomatoes—for example—civilians will get just about half as many commercially canned tomatoes next winter as they were able to get last winter, says War Food Administration.

Fortunately, for you, if you're looking ahead, it's still not too late to grow some tomatoes. While you're planting them set out enough to have some surplus for canning and for tomato juice. Next winter you'll be glad you did it.

EGG OUTLOOK TOLD BY P. T. MEYERS

Poultrymen may expect higher prices for eggs the rest of this year than they received last year, according to the forecast of the U. S. Department of Agriculture passed on to us by Assistant Farm Advisor P. T. Meyers.

Folks in this country continue to have money to buy, red meat is scarce, and military needs are high, all factors which indicate eggs will continue strong in demand well into next year.

In the meantime, farm flocks are not turning out quite as many eggs as last year. After all, there aren't as many layers. And this decline in the number of laying hens may continue.

On the other hand, because of the high prices for eggs compared to feed prices, the economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture expect a big late hatch of baby chicks such as we had year before last. They see enough young chickens for replacement purposes to more than offset any likely thinning out in the size of laying flocks this year. By the first of next year, they say the number of hens and pullets on farms will probably total as many, or maybe even just a little more, than farmers had the first of this year.

After the first quarter of next year, if the meat supply improves, and folks in Europe get their flocks back into production, the demand and prices for eggs may go down.

But it looks like farmers who have eggs to sell won't have to worry about selling them for a good long while.

COMMENDATION FOR LOCAL HERO

SEATTLE, Wash.—(Special to The Register)—Although the crew had been ordered to abandon their sinking ship, the escort carrier U. S.S. Block Island, JOSEPH D. LAGO, Shipfitter 2/c, U.S.N.R., remained aboard until the last possible minute to assist in the rescue of a wounded, trapped shipmate. For his action which occurred in the Atlantic last May, Lago, son of Mrs. Cozie Lago, R.F.D. Box 478, Niles, California, has been commended by the Commander-in-Chief, U.S. Atlantic Fleet.

Rear Admiral J. J. Ballentine, U.S.N., Comanding Fleet Air, of Seattle, pinned the decoration on Lago's blouse at the commissioning of the new Block Island, in Tacoma, Washington. The new carrier by that name is unique in the U. S. Navy in that it was put into commission manned by practically the entire crew of the first Block Island.

Lago's commendation reads, in part: "For courageous and self-sacrificing performance of duty as a member of a rescue party on board the U.S.S. Block Island on 29 May, 1944 . . . (after) the crew had been ordered to abandon ship, Joseph D. Lago unhestitatingly and voluntarily remained on board and aided in the rescue of a trapped man. . . . The courage and unselfish conduct of Joseph D. Lago in willingly placing his life in danger while assisting in the rescue of a trapped shipmate was in keeping with the highest traditions of the U.S. Naval Service."

Program for Germany

There is evidence of bold and objective planning in the pattern offered Congress by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, to prohibit the reindustrialization of Germany.

Under the Secretary's proposal, Germany would never again be an industrial nation, but instead would be self-sufficient in food, clothing and other requirements to maintain living standards not to exceed those of her European neighbors. Never again would her domestic peace-time machinery surreptitiously weave the fabric of world war.

Many questions arise in consideration of such a program, and they are not simple to answer.

From all practical standpoints, just how long would it conceivably be possible to keep Germany on a non-industrial basis? Just how much conviction will Americans have in the matter ten, twenty-five, fifty years from now? The selfsame generation that fought the "Huns" in the last war closed it eyes to the "Nazis" preparing for this one. Would the Germans, an aggressive and resourceful people, fall into the agrarian pattern without managing to enlist once again the sympathy of the outside world?

Mr. Morgenthau's surveys show that the German trade destroyed under his plan could well be absorbed by other European nations. But human nature and men's ambitions are pretty difficult to regiment for long. Would the rest of the world agree, remain in agreement and co-operate?

Perhaps the non-industrial plan is the surest, safest means by which Germany's future actions could be kept under surveillance and steered clear of war-making, for the welfare of the world. But certainly troublous times lie ahead in molding the program—and even more difficult times in making it work.

Let Freedom Ring!

Here in America where liberty was cradled and where free speech and free press are still looked upon as the individual's strongest shield against governmental tyranny, we have been taught to sing:

From every mountain-side
Let freedom ring.

With all our growing pains, and with all the political convulsions we have experienced, we have held fast to these fundamental guarantees of human liberty—and our nation's leaders have made it clear that they believe these basic freedoms must be an integral part of any United Nations charter, if there is to be any real hope of better understanding and world peace.

Yet in the charter now being drawn at the San Francisco Conference there is no guarantee of freedom of speech, nor of freedom of the press, and there is serious reason to believe that no other guarantees of human freedom can survive without these two, which are essential safeguards of the individual's right of self-expression.

We don't believe that is a stable base for world understanding—and we hope the day is not too far distant when the United Nations charter will be amended to guarantee these essential freedoms which are the guarantees of all others.

CALL GOES OUT FOR LABOR TO SAVE HARVEST

An emergency call to high school students and their parents to enlist at once for summer service in saving the $450,000,000 fruit and vegetable crops of central and northern California was issued this week by Emil Rutz, president of the California Processors and Growers, Inc.

"A billion cans of food are needed for our fighting men in the Pacific and vast additional quantities of food are needed on the home front," said Rutz, whose organization, comprised of processors, is accredited with packing 80 per cent of the fruits and vegetables of California, "and if we fail to pack these crops our troops and Americans everywhere will face grave shortages in food.

"Since there is only a handful of regular cannery workers available," he added, "we must by necessity depend on high school students and their parents for help This is a vital, patriotic service and even though workers may not be called for some weeks, they are urged to enroll at once."

Attractive wages are promised even to persons without experience.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED BY DECOTO CHAMBER

Two special committees were appointed last Monday night by President David Janeiro of the Decoto Chamber of Commerce when the organization met at the fire house.

One committee consisting of Manuel Seone (chairman), Tony Baptiste and Raymond Orosco, was delegated to help with details of establishing a war monument suggested by Raymond Pagan.

The other committee, comprised of Baptiste and Seone, will survey the street lighting system of the town.

OUR READERS WRITE . . .

The Editor, Sir:

I have been asked by the members and employees of the Masonic Home to express our appreciation through the pages of The Township Register to those who were responsible for routing Friday's big War Bond Show for a call at the home.

The visit not only cheered us but was a worth while publicity stunt, particularly in scores of letters sent to relatives and friends telling about the event.

Our patriotism was shown in our record of $500 contributed to the recent Red Cross Drive. We are personally interested in winning the war, through the fact that many members and employees have relatives in the conflict.

For instance, our superintendent has a son-in-law in the armed service; our matron a son, and our home physician and surgeon a son. Miss Payne, our head nurse in the hospital, was in the Red Cross division in World War I. We have one grandmother with four sons in the service and several with two.

Again, let me say that we are glad they came.

EUROPEAN PREFERS UNIVERSITIES IN U. S.

LIFE DIFFERENT HERE THAN IN EUROPE

By LOTTE POVAR

The end of my last description left you with the promise for a closer acquaintance with Cornell University. My husband being a graduate of its veterinarian school, I have a soft spot for this grandiose institution.

Universities in Europe, i.e. more specifically in Germany, usually consist of a few huge gray, old and intimidating-looking square structures, located in the center of medium sized to large cities. The students come from wealthy families, loaf around in their boarding houses most of the time and go on extensive drinking bouts, fighting an occasional, though illegal duel. This is the reason why many European professionals spent as much as double the required time at school. There is no forced attendance to classes and it has even been known to happen that a doctor had his thesis written for him by a more capable colleague!

FREER HERE

How different, how much freer and cleaner is an American university or college. The equal opportunity for scholarships brings together all walks of life under its roof. The university's attendants have to have only one requisite: the ambition for higher learning and the persistence toward a once chosen goal. The relationship of teacher to pupil in High School or College is one of friendly cooperation where in the German "Gymnasium" and University prevails the tension of teacher against the collective class of pupils. It is a constant fight between the authority and power of one over the right and might of the other, hindering progress and barring the way to spiritual understanding.

The forbidding air of the buildings, too, is in strict contrast to the landscaped, thoughtfully laid out halls of learning of a school like Cornell. Its sweeping drive leads you past gorges and waterfalls to a high green hill whose softly rolling sides are clustered with modernistic looking laboratories of the sciences. The crowd of students is clad in leisurely, bright colors and bears no resemblance to the dress-suit and hat type of the German scholar of pre-war times. "Free and easy" is the motto of life on campus and no distorted conception of "honor" leads to disagreements and even bloody fights. The boy-girl relationship is natural without strain or afterthought.

University life in America is a sound foundation for the healthy life of an ambitious youth and no class complex darkens its promise for a successfull future.

ON TO BUFFALO

Only two days had we allotted ourselves for this visit at my husband's beloved Alma Mater and Buffalo with its world-famed Niagara Falls was next on our list.

The hilly country we traversed from Ithaca to Buffalo, N. Y., resembles that part of the Black Forset with which I am best acquainted. Karlsruhe, on the Rhine, my home town, is situated at the meeting place of the river Rhine and the Black Forest. This panorama differed with upstate New York scenery only in its higher, majestic peaks and endless, age-old rows of spruce trees. Lake Cajuga could just as well be one of the many, though smaller, mountain seas in the clearings of the Black Forest. It made me just a little nostalgic to reminisce but very happy to find so similar and beautiful a view in the United States.

The highway ran along the lake most of the trip and its blue waves made a fine blend with the grey horizon. The fields and meadows presented themselves in a high and juicy green and time and again a cow would look at us with big, surprised eyes over the wire fence of a pasture. The farm houses were clean and nice but practical and unpretentious.

It was a hard day's driving over this mountainous territory and we were glad and very tired when we reached Buffalo early in the evening. On the way into the heart of the town, a car, packed to capacity like ours, passed us and its occupants winked and smiled knowingly: "Ah, there were some newly-weds on the traditional honeymoon-treck to the Falls." (Didn't we feel silly and conspicuous!)

The pretty town of Buffalo did not disappoint us a bit and we were very anxious to view the sights and famous surroundings.

Any American town of the medium-size class of Buffalo compares very closely with a European city of similar expansion, despite the fact that in the modern New World settlement the quaint-looking, two and three hundred year old houses are missing. A metropolis like New York on the other hand, is unique and therefore cannot be likened to any other capital in the world. Berlin has been called bourgeois, like an overgrown village and Parisian atmosphere and layout is heavy with its glorious history. It is quite like London, Prague and all the others, while New York represents the prototype of the new spirit unburdened with traditions and unhampered by shackles from the past.

Praying for good weather, we went to sleep in Hotel Statler, the first and only extravagance we committed in that respect. Our prayers were rewarded and our fondest hopes fulfilled when we viewed the mighty Falls the following day.

CAFES WITHOUT BUTTER MUST SERVE A SUBSTITUTE

In the first case of its kind in the San Francisco district of the Office of Price Administration, a cafe has been penalized $50 for failure to serve a butter substitute when no butter was available.

The Question Mark Restaurant, 1437 Haight Street, made the settlement under an administrator's claim, it was announced today.

Under the OPA restaurant price regulations all restaurants must serve a substitute such as jam, jelly, marmalade or peanut butter with their meals if they find it necessary to discontinue serving butter of rationing or allocation regulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Crane of Niles attended a dinner recently given at the Hotel Claremont by the manufacturers of the DeSoto automobiles for their dealers. The dinner was followed by a business meeting of the California DeSoto dealers.

MISSION SAN JOSE

LOIS JUSTUS, Correspondent

Anna C. Fontana and a friend from Marin County spent a few days with Mrs. Margaret Cushman following her return to the Mission after a short time spent in San Francisco a week or so ago.

Julian Mora, Ph.M 3/c of the U. S. Navy, son of Mr .and Mrs. Julian Mora Sr., returned unexpectedly one day last week from about fifteen months over there. His boat is back for repairs and he expects to be reassigned immediately.

Miss Nelle Warren was a weekend guest here at the home of her folks, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Castro a couple of weeks ago. She is making her home in Hayward.

After spending a five-day leave following his boot training at San Diego, A/S George Rodrigues returned to his post in the south accompanied by his wife, Mary. They spent ten days there and today Mary returned to her two daughters, Marilyn and Dorothy, who had been staying at the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Lawrence. Sailor George is now at Shoemaker ready for embarkation.

Miss Regina Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alois Schneider, is spending a week in San Francisco with relatives and some of her school chums from St. Marys.

Friends of James "Rusty" o'Connell, who was a resident of our town for a year and worked for the Dominican Convent, and Mrs. O. L. Starr here, will be pleased to learn that he is going to Merchant Marine School in San Francisco and expects to be ready very soon for assignment to a ship.

This might sound like it is going to be a tall fish story but indeed it is not, for it actually happened in a victory garden in the Mission. One of our Colorado farmerettes, in fact a great-grandmother, is the heroine of the story. Early this spring when the moon was right (now don't laugh at that) she decided she would try her luck at raising spuds (Colorado Oakie, for Potatoes, to Californians). Weeks went past and somehow they seemed to be a failure as far as sturdy vines went, so being a thrifty soul she decided she would dig up the ground and plant corn. What was her surprise upon digging into the hills to find real SPUDS. The largest was 1 pound, 10 ounces in weight, and two more were 1 pound, 4 ounces each, besides plenty of others large enough to be classed as good. Agricultural Inspector Duffie saw the "spuds" and said they were the largest he has seen around this part of the country for many a day. Great-?grandmother Wilcox is very proud of her spuds, and also her great-granddaughters, Vicki Jay Kamp and Ruth Diane Santos.

The graduation exercises for the Mission Grammar School were held on June 14 at two o'clock in the auditorium with a real large crowd in attendance. First on the program was the showing of a movie film from real "Action on Anguar," a seventh war loan film put out for the war bond drive. Mr. Robertson of the Irvington Grammar School was very kind in bringing over his sound equipment and showing the picture which showed how our Infantry work and fight on those isolated and far-away islands. Then the real program got under way. There were a number of songs by the class of Mrs. Edith Awbrey King, a drill number by the younger tots of Hazel Millards room, presentation of gifts and acceptances and a very inspiring talk by the Reverend Hugh Ryan of the Dominican Convent. Miss Kelly of the County Superintendent's office also said a few words to the graduates. Presentation of the diplomas was by Joseph R. Telles, president of the board. Those receiving their reward to go on to High School were: Jackie Borge, Eugene Bramwell, Dale Caldwell, Kenneth Coil, Clarence "Weezer" Fernandez, William "Sonny" Fernandez, Georgia Laughlin, Laura Mae Mederios, Elaine Neeley, William "Billie" Perreira, John Pat Recend, Rosie Santos, Marie Silva, and Rodney Whitaker. E. B. Hodges is the principal of the school and there will be no change in the teaching personnel for next year. The board of trustees are: Edward J. Callahan, clerk; Joseph Azeveda and Joseph R. Telles. Joe Abreu is custodian.

Clarence "Weezer" Fernandez was host to relatives and friends following the graduation exercises on Thursday at the home of his mother, Mrs. Josephine Hernandez. He received a number of very nice gifts and his mother served ice cream and cake to the guests.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS STUDY 'UNIVERSE'

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" This question is the subject of the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, June 24, with the Golden Text from the 24th Psalm: "The earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein."

Among the Bible verses included in the sermon is this from Jeremiah: "The Lord hath brought forth our righteousness: come, and let us declare in Zion the work of the Lord our God" (51:10).

Archibald MacLeish Visitor at Los Amigos

The theme of life of the Robert Mayock home at Los Amigos—"life is never dull at Los Amigos"—has been properly borne out in the past few weeks. Even though Mrs. Mayock was in southern California for a couple of weeks visiting friends and relatives, entertaining still went on under the capable supervision of young Miss Sally Mayock, who is home for the summer from Mills College.

Miss Mayock and her dad managed two Sunday barbecues in Mrs. Mayock's absence, entertaining state department people and South American delegates to the San Francisco conference; also a mid-week dinner for Dr. and Mrs. Lynn Townsend White, Dr. and Mrs. Francis H. Herrick, and Dr. Glenn Hoover, all of Mills College.

Mrs. Mayock was greeted on her return from the South with an evening party at Los Amigos, with Archibald MacLeish as one of the guests, and Adlai Stevenson, Wilder Foote and other notables, who were all completely sold on California, to the extent that they would gladly move the seat of government here!

Miss Mayock will soon give up her co-hostessing in favor of a trip to Washington, where she will take a position with the State Department for the months of July and August, returning in September to go back to Mills College.

Hurrah!
NEW CARS

Sinc V-E Day there has been a considerable amount of confusion and speculation as to the introduction of new cars and your Automobile Dealer Association feels that it owes you the benefit of the combined information of its factories regarding the availability of new cars, and is pleased to pass this information on to you. The following is, of course, the thinking at the present time:

1. New cars should be on display around the end of the year.
2. New cars should be available to holders of rationing orders during the year 1946.
3. The average motorist not qualified to obtain a ration certificate may not be able to purchase a new car for perhaps two years, or well into the year 1947.

In the meantime your Association feels that it is to your benefit, not only from an economical service and safety standpoint, but from the trade-in value of your car when you CAN purchase a new one, to keep it in first class condition. Our combined Service Departments are at your service in this respect and are only too anxious to see to it that you are assured of safe, economical, reliable and carefree transportation during this interim.

Fifteen girls between the ages of 9 and 12 met yesterday at the home of Mrs. A. W. Gorman for the first meeting toward the organization of a Girl Scout troop. Mrs. Gorman and the co-leader, Mrs. Towner of Niles, outlined plans for further meetings to be held at the Boy Scout House, the temporary headquarters.

In order to have a large membership, more Girl Scout leaders will be needed to aid Mrs. Gorman and Mrs. Towner.

Electric Octopus
ADEQUATE WIRING
You have seen an Electric Octopus or perhaps you even have one in your own home. It is a make-shift electric service by using a "clumsy" triple plug and running a clock, radio and lamp all from one electric outlet. The octopus outlet is a sure sign of house wiring that is lacking in enough circuits or outlets in the right places for modern and convenient service. • So look ahead ...in your present home or the new home you plan to build. Plan for adequate wiring to run all of your electric appliances with full power and at lowest cost. Put adequate wiring down as a first MUST in your 194X home plans. You'll find it saves more money than it costs.
